

Export Control

- Research with restrictions on publication or foreign national participation may be export controlled.
- An “export” can include physical shipment, electronic data transmission, or providing access or visual release.
- If this type of restriction applies, consult LBNL’s Export Control advisor before allowing access to controlled data.
- Where export control applies, physically transferring equipment or hard copy technical data must be shipped through Shipping & Receiving.
- Assure that laptops taken on travel do not include controlled technical data.
- If there is any doubt, contact the export control officer well in advance.
Violations can incur severe sanctions and monetary penalties against individuals and/or LBNL.

Contact LBNL’s Export Control Advisor, Don Fischer (415-987-4039)